Sirs,

The premises are in the middle of a residential area and are undergoing a huge extension relative to the premises, following the infill of the patio/garden area using the planning bypass by building a conservatory a year or so ago.

The additional numbers of diners attending and leaving the premises, the absence of a reasonable size smoking area other than a residential street and the risk of people coming back from town later to collect takeaways in an, unlit after midnight, single lane one way road later at night could be intolerable for local residents – despite the please leave quietly required signs.

With the removal of the patio area formerly the beer garden the question of children in the pub from 11.00-8.00 presumably also has to be considered? Alleviated somewhat by the playground opposite.

The current hours are in my opinion more than adequate for the premises and the area and I speak as a regular attendee at the Nascot.
